

CATCHING A KILLER | Channel 4 9PM

Natalie Hemming, aged 31, vanished on 1 May 2016. 48 hours later her mother called 999 to report her missing. The hunt for Natalie became one of the biggest missing-person cases in the history of Thames Valley Police – one that ended tragically when her body was discovered in woodland over three weeks later.

In this first instalment of a new series, we follow Thames

Valley Police's Major Crime Unit, seeing how their investigation into Natalie's disappearance develops, as it evolves from a search into an actual murder inquiry – as well as charting the effects of the search on Natalie's friends and family.

As grim as the subject matter is, it's a rare opportunity to get an insight into a real police investigation from start to finish.
